

WE BRING TO YOU A LOW-DOWN OF EVENTS HELD ACROSS ARCHITECTURE AND INTERIOR DESIGNING COLLEGES IN MUMBAI.

L.S. Raheja College of Architecture, Mumbai

L.S. Raheja College of Architecture, Mumbai recently organized the Sustainability Sensitizing Program. The program brought together an ensemble of five leading companies, namely Anchor, Godrej, Hettich, Duroply and Asian Paints, and was followed by panel discussion that was aided and abetted by interior designer Sangeeta Kapoor.

The introduction to the seminar was made by Ar. Arvind Khanolkar, the Principal of LS Raheja College of Architecture, along with designer Sangeeta Kapoor, where they created an awareness of the implications of our decisions as designers of tomorrow's world, emphasizing on the dire need for sustainability in our designs. The audience was made to understand the importance of awareness of various materials and technology being developed in the market by the leading practitioners and companies. This helped in learning more about decisions which would reduce our carbon footprints, make our practices more sustainable, and eventually pave the way to a greener earth.
